

Washington Stormwater Center

April 8, 2011

Welcome to our new email updates! Take a look around, click on some links, or provide feedback to let us know what you think.

2011 UW WATER SYMPOSIUM

The 2011 UW Water Symposium, co-sponsored by Washington Stormwater Center, will bring together regional water professionals with UW faculty, students, and staff to explore and discuss the latest advances in aquatic sciences, including hydrology, water quality, stormwater, and Puget Sound regional ecology.

The program includes excellent keynote speakers as well as opportunities to present your work in platform and poster sessions.

Symposium details:

- When: April 18, 2011, 9am-5pm
- Where: UW Seattle Campus, Kane Hall Rm 225
- Cost: FREE

Read more and register on the Center for Urban Waters website.

NAVIGATING STORMWATER FOR YOUR BUSINESS

Are you a current Industrial or Construction Stormwater permit holder? Are you aware of how stormwater issues can affect your business? The Association of Washington Business Institute is proud to host a stormwater awareness event you don't want to miss.

Highlights:

- What you need to know about stormwater and how it affects your business
- Stormwater permit compliance pathways
- Newly released training video for your Stormwater Pollution Prevention Plan (SWPPP)
- How is the Department of Ecology clarifying and simplifying the state stormwater permit
- Stormwater Policy current and future legislative and regulatory efforts

Seminar details:

- Spokane, May 11th, 1:30-3:00 pm
- Olympia, May 19th, 9:30-11:00am

STORMWATER CHANNEL

All stormwater, all the time

Have you visited the Stormwater Channel yet? Take a look to see stormwater training and demonstration videos. If you haven't seen our premiere S-Series training video, sit down for some training fun on: Adding Pollutant Sources to Your Site Map.

If you have a video we can post to the Stormwater Channel, let's us know and we'd love to link it!

Watch the Stormwater Channel

As always, you can submit comments and questions regarding the web pages, events, or stormwater issues and concerns.

Washington Stormwater Center is here to help you.

Sincerely,

Joy Rodriguez
Washington Stormwater Center